

Perspectives on Work* Mission and Editorial Policy

Perspectives on Work explores current issues in labor and employment relations in a manner that academics, practitioners, and students will find interesting and informative. Features are structured to offer multiple perspectives on the topics addressed.

The journal editor, in consultation with the Perspectives on Work Editorial Advisory Board (EAB), has responsibility for publication decisions. Unsolicited proposals for articles and features are also welcome and should be submitted to the editor (e-mail: perspectives@ad.uiuc.edu). The journal's policy is to have manuscripts evaluated by at least two referees prior to publication.

Perspectives on Work publishes articles that have not been previously published. Contributions are expected to be accessible to a wide audience, and authors are encouraged to offer a combination of analysis and commentary on the topics they examine.

Revised February 2008 (incorporates LERA Editorial Committee recommendations offered in January 2007).
